STAT

EXCERPT FROM D/FBIS DAILY LOG - 21 February 1979

[redacted] He sug- STAT gested we ask [redacted] to brief us on the new reorganization [redacted] which STAT
 "demoted" the Monitoring Service. It no longer reports to the Chief Editor.
 Alexis noted that 95% of the output from the [redacted] materials was done STAT by [redacted] and himself but under selection controls that did not do justice STAT to the raw material available. He said the two of them and an American could put out just as much alone as we got [redacted] and hoped we'd consider this STAT "outside [redacted] structure." He reminded us that [redacted] "are not STAT good friends." He said that our representative [redacted] must have clout STAT to enable him to influence selection. He asked that we not mention any details of their pension [redacted] since this might cause "a STAT tax problem." He suggested that he would be ready to keep us informed of developments [redacted] and offered his private phone number. I declined on STAT grounds of propriety. (cc: C/Ops, C/E&PS) (U)
